

New Hampshire Childhood Cancer Conference

The New Hampshire Childhood Cancer Conference is virtual, free, and open to researchers, health care providers, public health staff, community members, cancer registrars, and anyone interested in learning more about childhood cancer.

Thursday, June 10, 2021

8:45 AM – 5:00 PM

SCHEDULED SPEAKERS INCLUDE:

Caitlin Reilly Smith, MPH – Mother of Pediatric Cancer Survivor

Logan G. Spector, PhD – University of Minnesota
“The Causes of Childhood Cancer in Brief”

Philip Lupo, PhD, MPH – Baylor College of Medicine
“Disentangling the Epidemiology of Rhabdomyosarcoma”

Judy Rees, BM, BCh, MPH, PhD – Norris Cotton Cancer Center
Angela Ricci, MD – Children's Hospital at Dartmouth
“Childhood Cancer Initiatives in New Hampshire”

Taylor McDonald – Pediatric Cancer Survivor, BU Class of 2021

Alan Woolf, MD, MPH, FAAP, FACMT, FAACT – Harvard School of Medicine
“The Environment, New Hampshire Kids, & Cancer Prevention: Challenges & Opportunities”

Kira Bona, MD, MPH – Harvard School of Medicine
“Poverty and Childhood Cancer Outcomes: A Target for Novel Intervention”

Lee Helman, MD - Osteosarcoma Institute
“Rhabdomyosarcoma-A Model for Future Therapeutic Approaches to Treat Pediatric Cancer”

For more information or to register please visit:

<https://event.roseliassociates.com/nh-childhood-cancer-conference/>

Continuing education credits will be available for physicians (CME), nurses (CNE), and cancer registrars (CE)